Risk Assessment Training

What is it?

This is training for people operating in outdoor or remote environments. It comprises Threat Assessment (country or regional scale threats) and Risk Assessment (location and activity specific risks). Essentially, training also includes reactive or dynamic risk assessment, performed by the person from moment to moment on the ground.

Training is interactive and practical, and tailored specifically to the location and activities of the trainees. Training is beneficial both to those travelling and also their support teams back in the office.

How long does it last?

Between one and two days. Typically training runs from 9am to 5.30pm each day.

What does it cover?

- Threat assessment
- Risk assessment
- Dynamic risk assessment
- Principles of Incident Management
- Case study learning
- Risk Assessment and the law
- Completing documentation

Often delivered with:

- Incident Management Training
- Offsite Safety Management course
- Manual Handling
- First Aid

Do I get a certificate?

Yes – you will be issued a certificate of attendance valid for 2 years.
